Rocketdyne Gets Contract

McGREGOR

The Navy has awarded a $6,451,120 contract to Rocketdyne of McGregor for production of the propulsion sections of the Pheonix long-range air-to-air missile. Rocketdyne, a division of Rockwell International, is also a major subcontractor for the Condor Air-to-ground missile program. The U. S.House and Senate increased the spending limit in the Condor program last week to $15 million.

Council Accepts Blame

ROCKDALE

An "embarrassed" city council accepted blame for a Saturday fiasco that saw a total of 66 parking tickets written by a meter maid during Rockdale's annual Christmas parade that drew hundreds of onlookers to the downtown area. The aldermen said that 44 unpaid tickets will be suspended and that the 22 persons who paid their fines will be refunded.

Thefts Solved, Six Arrested

CALDWELL

The Burleson County Sheriff's Department has solved three thefts in the past week, resulting in the arrest of six persons. Reported stolen were two car motors, an electric generator, an irrigation pump, a brush saw, two old guns, miscellaneous small tools, and other items. Most of the stolen items were recovered.

Museum Opening Draws Crowd

BELTON

More than 300 people attended the dedication of the Bell County Museum in the old Belton Carnegie Library building. "Christmas Around the World" was the theme for the Dec. 7-Jan. 6 opening featuring the first rotating exhibit. The exhibit includes quilting, and exhibit of quilts, and other handwork. Permanent pioneer exhibits of Bell County, early Texas, and from the states which settled Texas are on display.

Ambulance Service Studied

GEORGETOWN

The Round Rock ambulance issue was kept in limbo by Williamson County commissioners last week despite the pleas of two dozen Round Rock citizens. The Round Rock ambulance is costing the county service almost 50 percent more than any other town, they said. If the decision is made to remove the county unit now in Round Rock, Georgetown seems the likely site for its relocation.

Army Findings Challenged

GATESVILLE

There are at least 42 points in the Army's environmental impact study on the acquisition of 59,300 acres of southwestern Coryell County land which the Our Land, Our Lives landowner organization feels are open to question. The Army's findings are that the acquisition is necessary for the national defense and that extending the boundaries in Coryell County would be the "least costly in terms of economy, social disruption, and environmental damage."

Farm Bureau Joins Plea For Law Enforcement

Five members of the Milam County Farm Bureau met with commissioners Thursday at a regular meeting to express the group's concern with the law enforcement situation in the county.

They were FB President H. M. Yager, Ed Lehmann, Joe Zajicek, Buck Angell, and Reeves Brown, all landowners in the county.

County Judge O. B. Harden told the group that the function and duties of commissioners court is to levy taxes, serve as an equalization board, and supervise spending of county monies.

Brown said, "then we need to counsel with the sheriff." He asked Harden where it would hit if it comes to dollars and Harden said the county would have to raise taxes. He added that the county would not be facing law enforcement if "we let a few tax dollars stand in our way."

HARDEN SAID THE "tax situation has not changed since I can remember," and that it "looks like the bottom of the barrell."

It was pointed out that there are 29 law enforcement officers in the county not counting radio dispatchers. This includes a game warden, Alcholic Beverages Commission officer, four Department of Public Safety troopers, a sheriff and three deputies, seven constables, five Cameron police officers, six Rockdale police officers, and one police officer in Thorndale.

Brown asked if the county budget had a surplus but was told that taxes collected during the fall are used for expenses during the next budget year and there is no surplus. Harden pointed out that the county had no deficit spending.

YAGER, SPOKESMAN FOR the group, said the Bureau was not out to criticize commissioners or anyone else but did want to keep up with what is going on. He said the Bureau will try to have a member sit in at commissioners meetings and was told the meetings are public and open.

In other business, Rockdale City Manager Ernie Moore again talked with commissioners about the ambulance and fire call situation in south Milam. He first expressed appreciation of the Rockdale city council for the money paid to repair one of Rockdale's ambulances.

Moore told commissioners a deputy sheriff is needed to be stationed in the south part of the county so that calls to the sheriff's department could be answered faster. However, he said after Judge Harden spelled out powers of the court he would not ask them for the deputy.

ON FIRE FIGHTING problems, Moore indicated that the $800 paid yearly by the county to Rockdale for fighting rural fires is not enough. He said other counties pay on a per-hour basis or on a call basis.

Commissioners told Moore that both Cameron and Rockdale were paid by the call, but both cities had asked to be paid a flat fee per year.

Moore asked for consideration when the next budget was prepared and said Rockdale would continue to bring these problems to the commissioners' attention.

Commissioners also approved payment of architect fee and part of the contractor costs on the new tax office. The funds will come from revenue sharing funds.

Hogan Employee Finds Stolen Safe In Field

An employee of Hogan's Texaco Warehouse in Rockdale found the safe taken in a Tuesday night robbery but so far no one has been charged in the breakin.

Rockdale Police Chief Truman White said the employee, Charles Embra of Rockdale, found the safe in a pasture near Ham Branch. The door had been peeled and a cut made in the side through which an undisclosed amount of money was taken. Checks and ledgers were recovered.

White said the safe was found about noon Wednesday.

Sheriff Carl Black has offered a $100 reward, and W. P. Hogan has offered $100 for information leading to the arrest of the culprits.

Cameron city police report no new findings have developed in the Saturday, Dec. 6 breakin at L&M Jewelers. Some $15,000 worth of merchandise was taken in that robbery.

Sheriff Black has also offered a $100 reward for information on the burglary.

Yoe Band Fetes Team, Coaches For Season

A double victory line formed by members of the band greeted the coaches and team as they entered the hall. Taped background music of the percussion section marching cadences and playing of "The Young Yoemen" prevailed throughout the party.

Head Coach Ed Cauley was presented a Cameron Yoemen wall plaque by Band Director Jerry Bartley for his successful season and support given the band this fall. The plaque was signed by all members of the band.

Public Hearing To Air Improvement Program

The first of two public hearings by the Community Development Agency has been called for Tuesday, December 16 at 5:30 p.m. at city hall to air plans for Cameron's community development program's second year and the continuance of the first year programs.

A. W. McCullin, CDA director, said funds for the second year's program in the amount of $136,000 have been released and bids will be let on Dec. 17 and 19 for construction and materials for the sewer system in Alabama Town and for the park-playground in the O. J. Thomas School area.

He said the clearing of titles to property in the playground area is being delayed because of the difficulty in securing clear titles to some of the property. McCullin said the agency had to file condemnation on one piece of property to obtain title.

A breakdown of funds for the second year shows $23,600 for sewers in Alabama Town; $5,300 for the park-playground in the O. J. Thomas School area; $55,700 for drainage and streets engineering; $10,000 for a downtown exposition park; $5,100 for code enforcement; $10,140 for demolition of old buldings; $3,600 for planning and management; $20,900 for administration; and $1,660 for contingencies for a total of $136,000.

Birth certificates and up to date immunization records will be required at time of registration. Children that have already been preregistered need not register at this time.

Second semester classes will begin at 8:30 a.m. January 19, 1976.

Police Report Several Cases Of Dog Poisoning

Several cases of dog poisoning have been reported by city police and a local veterinarian, all in the northeast section of the city.

Police Chief Kent Butler said three dogs were possibly poisoned with strichnyne and this is the same poison mentioned by Dr. Tommy Barton, local vet. Barton said he had treated several dogs for poisoning and heard of one or two cases of dogs dying from poison.

Chief Butler said he had checked stores here for sales of the poison with no results, and said it was probably bought in another place. Butler said only a very small amount of the poison can be fatal to dogs.

He said the poison bait is used by rural residents for wolves and other predators.

Butler said poisoning dogs is in violation of the law and carries a fine.

Library Joins Centex System

The Cameron Public Library is among 32 libraries in the 30-county area served by the Central Texas Major Resources System that have qualified for system membership. As members, they are participating in activities to improve library service in the region.

The regional systems are authorized under provisions of the Texas Library Systems Act and are supported by funds administered by the Texas State Library. In order to qualify for system activities, libraries must meet certain criteria concerning number of volumes, amount of local per capita support, and staff.

SIGNS OF THE SEASON--Fall makes this a common sight in the city as residents rake up the tons of leaves that fall. Here Roy Evan of 708 N. Lamar rakes more leaves to add to the trailer load awaiting carrying off.

For Modern Enforcement...

We encourage the Milam Grand Jury to reconvene and to discuss in the legal cloister of a grand jury ways to deal with problems of unsolved crimes reported by two grand jurors.

We encourage a thorough review of the law enforcement procedures in the Milam Sheriff's Dept., the District-County Attorney's office and whatever offices may relate to criminal investigation and prosecution in Milam County.

We encourage this grand jury, if necessary, to call by invitation or subpoena any experts in related police work in modern county systems to advise what means and what personnel are needed to meet the problems.

We encourage the Commissioners Court to support with financing necessary to man the Sheriff's and County-District Attorney's departments until continuing satisfactory performance in the field and in the Milam County courtrooms is established.

This is still a rural county. It is absurd for us to lose control, if that is what is occuring, over the property and lives of Milam Countians.

A Better Yoe Gym...

We congratulate the board of Cameron Independent School District for near completion of remodeling the Yoe Gymnasium.

The interior is fast shaping into something far from what it once was.

Since this board or some of this board was defeated in two bond issues, it must be gratifying to its officers and members to see some progress in a more modest fashion.

When the science department indeed is finished on second floor, the building will be fully utilized for gym, basketball, and science activity, more useful than in years, since perhaps the old band hall was upstairs.

It is in time for the basketball Yoemen, and a girls athletic program which includes volleyball and basketball.

It is none too soon for the things needed to be done.

Communist World Grows

By John Morrison

VIENNA

Reuter--The harsher economic climate is making growth more difficult in the communist world, where living standards seem certain to rise more slowly between now and 1980 than in the past five years.

The prolonged recession in the capitalist West is putting a damper on communist hopes of an export boom.

Some communist ideologues may welcome the West's economic troubles, but those who draw up economic blueprints in East European capitals recognize the economic inter-dependence between the communist and non-communist worlds

With new five-year plans due to start on January 1, throughout the Soviet bloc, the accent is on "modest" rises in living standards rather than lavish promises.

Communist governments, battling against growing trade deficits, are telling their people to keep consumer expectations realistic.

Most Soviet bloc states have borrowed heavily to finance imports of western consumer goods and technology, hoping to come out of the red in the second half of the decade with exports racing healthily ahead of imports.

But stagnant markets in the West are placing a question mark over these hopes. In the first five months of this year West European exports to the Soviet block rose 48 percent over the same period last year, but trade in the other direction climbed only 16 percent.

The result was a five-month trade deficit for the East European states with their West European partners of almost three billion dollars, higher than in the whole of 1974.

With some countries in the eastern economic bloc doing mre than half their trade with the West, the problem is critical.

While the Soviet Union is big enough to remain largely independent of economic developments elsewhere, the smaller East European states --Bulgaria, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, and Romania--are acutely sensitive to changes in world markets.

Hungary, the poorest in raw materials, has seen its trade run into the red not only with the West but with its eastern partners too.

A new round of bargaining over foreign trade prices in the communist world in the next few weeks is expected to bring a further rise in prices for raw materials and energy that will benefit only the Soviet Union and possibly coal-rich Poland.

Maufacturing countries such as Hungary, East Germany, and Czechoslovakia again seem likely to come out on the losing end of the annual revision. Prices will from now on be set according to the average world level of the past five years.

The East Europeans are sinking capital and manpower into big multinational projects that will ensure expanding supplies of energy and raw materials from the Soviet Union.

But economic cooperation in other industrial sectors is admitted to be lagging. Planners look westward rather than to their communist neighbors for the advanced equipment and technology that will provide a short cut to meeting rising consumer expectations.

Any sharp worsening in East-West relations, making credits harder to obtain and tariff barriers harder to dismantle, could undermine these hopes of more cars, washing machines, and other goods.

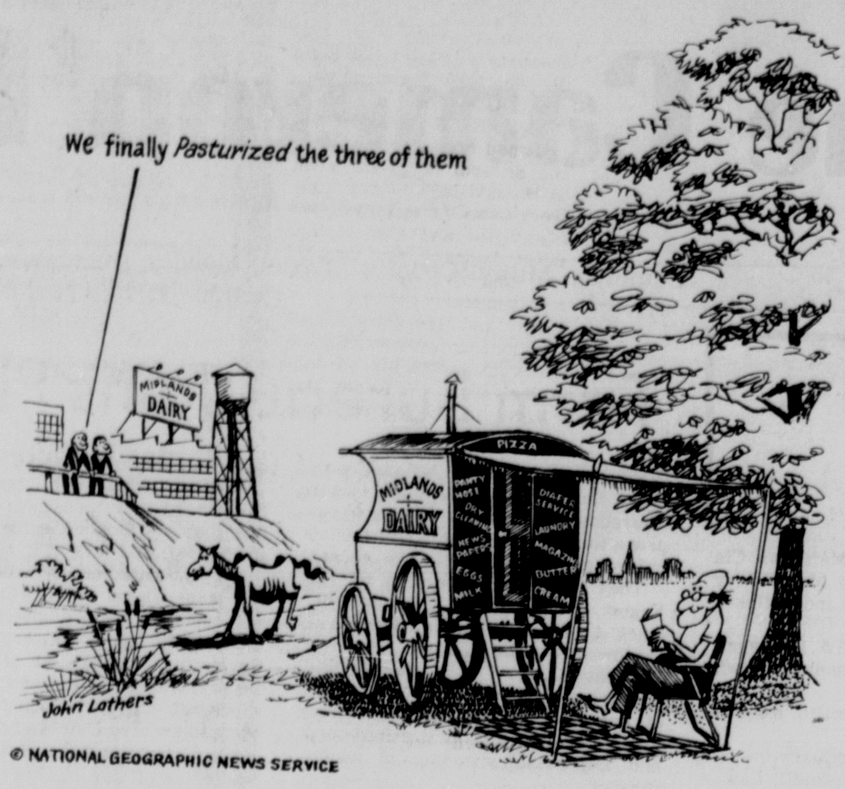
East European leaders would be the first to show concern if leadership changes in Moscow, Washington, or Bonn adversely affected detente.

In Hungary, the new bleaker economic climate has been explained with a frankness that contrasts with other communist countries. Newspaper commentaries say there is no room for wishful thinking.

Massive subsidies by which the Hungarian government tried to cushion the effects of costlier imports are being phased out, and consumer prices are to rise 4.5 percent next year.

Workers may find new limits on their traditional freedom to switch jobs as often as the y please, as part of a drive to tighten labor discipline and reduce the high turnover of workers.

Neighborhood Milkman Is Vanishing Sight



© NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC NEWS SERVICE

Look sharp for your last glimpse of another vanishin American: the milkman.

It may even be too late. Countless neighborhoods have seen the last of his kind, the National Geographic Society says. The milkman is the latest victim of the Supermarket Age.

Americans are still big milk drinkers: 132.2 quarts on the average in 1974. But from most of them, "no milk today" is theirmessage for the milkman. They would rather buy it cheaper when they drive the family car to the shopping center grocery store.

The Milk Industry Foundation, which keeps track, says Americans are drinking less whole milk than they used to--though on the average it was 93 quarts in 1974; less cream--2.7 quar-; but more low-fat or skim milk--36.5 quarts. Yogurt is catching on fast: 1.59 pounds on the average in 1974.

Pizza to Pantyhose

Today only 9.5 percent of all dairy products are sold by home delivery, compared to 52 percent during World War II. Most dairies abandoned their routes, or sold them, trucks and all, to the milkmen.

To stay in business, surviving milkmen may peddle everything from pizza to pantyhose, take in dry cleaing, and leave hand cream with the cottage cheese on the stoop by the back door.

The veteran milkman endured stormy weather and surly dogs to keep his appointed rounds, often being rewarded with a kitchen table cup of coffee as an unofficial member of the family.

Whatever back alley news of the block he passed along was always welcome. He became a master decoder of milk bottle messages, and had a dairy product profile on the life of every family on his route.

But already silent are the sounds that once announced the milkman in the pre-dawn darkness: clinking milk bottles, the clopping hoofs of the milk wagon horse.

Bottles Replace Cans

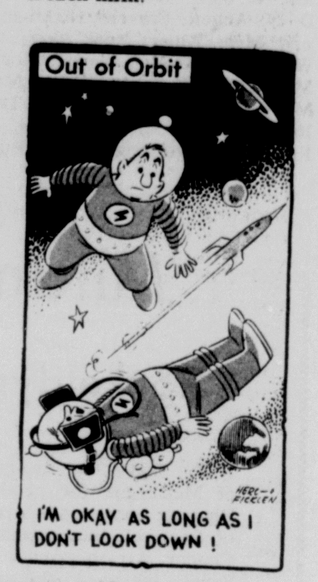
Milk bottle s were invented by Dr. Harvey D. Thatcher in Potsdam, New York in 1884. They soon replaced the milk cans and ladles of pioneer milkmen driving small horse carts.

Glass milk bottles appear now only as half gallong s or gallons in supermarket dairy cases. But many a doorstep quart, once full of Grade-A, lives again as a sideboard wine decanter.

Antique shop curosities sometimes prized as flowers vases are bottles of brown glass, to protect the milk's vitamin C from the sunlight's ultra violet rays, and bottleswith bulging necks designed to collect the cream separating from unhomogenized milk.

Average life of a quart milk bottle was about 40 round trips from the dairy, and the need for a bottle scrubber hastened its obsolescence after the invention of throw-away cardboard and plastic containers.

And just as an egg fried on the sidewalk is a newspaper photographer's idea of summer's hottest day, the first cold snap of winter once always was portrayed as a frigid doorstep surmounted by a quart which had pushed up a neck of frozen milk.



Tempting Trophy Awaits Victors Of Angolan War

By John Edlin

LONDON

Reuter - A tempting trophy awaits the victors of the Angolan civil war--a treasure trove of some of Africa's richest oil, iron, and diamond deposits as well as vast tracts of developed farmlands that constitute one of the best-stocked larders on the continent.

The 500,000 square mile territory's three main deepwater ports also offer potential for important strategic naval bases in the southern Atlantic Ocean.

The multi-faceted prize in the war between two self-proclaimed governments reflecting sharply differing ethnica and ideological backgrounds already has attracted help in the shape of arms, supplies, and money from both East and West.

It is no secret that the Luanda-controlled Popular Liberation Movement (MPLA) is being militarily bolstered by the Soviet Union and Cuba. And neither the joint forces of the opposing National LiberationFront (FNLA) and the National Independence (UNITA) have concealed the supplies they have been getting from the governments of the United States and China--or from diverse business interests in South Africa, Portugal, Belgium, and Germany.

As a Portuguese official remarked only a day before his government formally let the territory become independent last month: "This is not a war between Angolans for Angola. It is a war of two worlds--the East and the West. And the biggest winner will be one of those, not the Angolans themselves."

Western investors--acutely aware that MPLA's socialist policies call for a greater state stake in the economy --anxiously look to the FNLA and UNITA to safeguard their interests in the iron, copper, and diamond mines, the oilfields and the coffee plantations.

They include multinational companies as well as financiers from the United States, South Africa, Belgium, Germany, Britain, France, Japan, Scandinavia, and Portugal itself.

The biggest single investment is in the American Cabinda Gulf Oil Company's wells offshore from the tiny Cabinda enclave, a strip of land northwest of Luanda and separated from Angola by Zaire. It is under the control of the MPLA.

As Africa's second main producer after Nigeria, Gulf's 123 wells pump out 155,000 barrels a day to lubricate the fast-weakening economy of Angola by 40 million dollars a month in royalties and taxes.

And they offer vast reserves, estimated at 300 million tons, of which only 7.6 million tons were tapped last year, according to the company.

In the far northwest of Angola nine American and Belgian companies still have prospecting concessions. In the south , Americans, French, and South Africans are searching for signs of fresh deposits. The American Texaco concession alone is estimated to include oil reserves of as much as three billion tons--ten times bigger than Cabinda.

Americans are also involved--with the German fried. Krupp group as well as Dutch, Austrian, Danish, and Portuguese bankers--in mining iron ore at Cassinga in southern Angola, now controlled by UNITA forces.

The foreign investment is in the Companhia Mineira do Lobito which last year extracted 6.3 million tons of ore to earn 38 million dollas.

Thought by geologists to be one of the richest iron ore reserves in the world, Cassinga is said to have deposits of one billion tons.

In the thinly populated MPLA-held northeast, near the Zaire frontier, another international consortium of Portuguese, British, South African, and Belgian interests is plucking diamonds from the ground to make Angola--for the time being--the world's fifth biggest producer of these gems.

Equally attractive to foreign investors, however, have been the rich farmlands of Angola. As the world's second biggest grower of coffee (after Brazil), the foreign owned plantations last year earned 231 million dollars from overseas sales.

Study Reveals Illiterate Adults

A recently released study that revelas as many as 23 million American adults are "functionally illiterate" was conducted by research specialists in The University of Texas Division of Extension.

The four-year study found many do not have a basic education for living that is reflected in skills for communication, computation, problem solving, and inter personal relations.

Among other things, the study showed 41 percent of the adults cannotfill out a bank deposit slip correctly.

Thanksgiving has come and gone, and we are startled into planning and preparing for Christmas. We've successfully avoided the tempting displays of candies and nuts -- until now.

But the Christmas spirit is beginning to catch up with us, and our thoughts turn to shopping, decorating, and baking for the holidays ahead.

Baking for the varous festivities almost always includes candies, cakes, cookies and puddings chocked full of nuts. The grocery store sheves are full of package upon package of nuts. We have more kinds, forms and sizes of nuts from which to choose in December than during any other month of the year.

You may be wondering whether to buy nuts in the shell or to buy the nut meats. Around the holiday season, time seems to grow more important each day. So time, energy, and money all play an important part in the decision about how to buy nuts.

Listed in order of in/shell, shelled and amount in cups it makes

Pecans 2 lbs. 1 lb. 4 1/4 halves
halves 3 /4 chopped
Almonds 2 lbs. 1 lb. 3 cups
Brazil 2 lbs. 1 lb. 3 1/4
English walnuts 2 1/2 lbs. 1 lb. 4 1/4 halves 3 1/2 chopped

When comparing costs, the chopped nuts are usually less expensive than whole kernels. If the nuts are to be chopped anyway, this could be a good place to save money and labor. Of course, if the nuts are going to garnish cookies or cake, then you probably want the halves.

There are several things to look for to make sure you are buying the highest quality nut available. Nuts in the shell should be clean and free from cracks, holes or scars. Also the shell should be well-filled so the kernels do not rattle.

Freshness of shelled nuts can be judged by looking at the appearance of the kernel. Plump, meaty kernels mean full flavor and richness. Fresh kernels of fine quality will snap when broken. They will have a crisp, fresh taste. If the kernel is rubbery this indicates staleness, high moisture content and probably rancidity.

The inside of the kernel should be clean, white and clear. A dingy gray color means oiliness and possible rancidity.

It is easy to store nuts, but here are some suggestions to keep them fresh.

Nuts in the shell keep better than the shelled. If nuts are to be kept over a long period of time, it might be wise to buy and store them in the shell and crack as needed.

Nuts contain a high percentage of fat which will become rancid when stored at room temperature or in the light. The nuts should be kept in the refrigerator between 32 and 40 degrees F. It's best to store the nuts in the main section of the refrigerator rather than in the moist air section where the vegetables are kept.

Since air also hastens the onset of spoilage it is best to avoid opening vacuum-packed containers long before the nuts are to be used. It's also good to remember that salted nuts do not store as well as unsalted ones, since salt encourages the onset of rancidity.

Nuts add a delicious touch to main dishes, salads, desserts and relishes. Christmas cookies depend on nuts for their special goodness. Nuts are also wonderful for snacks. A full nut bowl adds a warm touch to a living room or a family room. Nuts can also be used in many creative ways on reaths and with greens.

Meet the Winner—Sweet 'n' Sour Beef Chuck!

The victory bell rang for Mrs. Betty Morrow of Woodland, Oklahoma, at the National Beef Cook-Off held in Denver recently. Mrs. Morrow won the first prize of $1,000 and culinary fame with her entry "Sweet 'n' Sour Beef Chuck," a delicious creation that begins with braising a beef chuck roast and is completed by pouring an intriguing sweet-sour sauce over pieces of the tender beef.

Mrs. Morrow, a grandmother who is enrolled in a Bachelor of Library Science degree program at Oklahoma State University, topped the 30 other state finalists who qualified for this contest, sponsored by the American National CowBelles, the women's auxiliary of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

Recipes featured in the Cook-Off were limited to those using cuts from the beef chuck and round, according to Mrs. Elmo Hoyt, Kamas, Utah, chairman of the Cook-Off. She pointed out that this second annual national contest attracted more than double the number of entries in last year's initial competition.

YOE SWEEPS SNOOK TOURNEY

For the first time ever, the Yoe cagers unleashed on all 4 opponents in the Snook Tournament Thursday, Friday, and in the finals on Saturday to capture the first place trophy.

The Yoe cagers made it look easy as learning the ABCs and won the tournament by defeating Hempstead 61-44, Snook 50-35, district rival Hearne 61-54, and Richards in the finals 55-47.

It didn't make any difference to the Yoemen who has played more games than they have had workouts in waltzing into first place for the first time in the Snook Tourney.

It really didn't matter about the team's classification either because the Yoemen were ready to display that first place trophy at Yoe High. The tournament included class B to AAA teams.

The Yoemen met Richards in the final which is a class B team that beat Navasota, class AAA, and Madinsonville in their two opening games to filter to the championship bout Saturday night.

Class told. Richards man-to-man defense against the Yoemen worked about as well as an Edsel. Their defeat didn't come from the lack of experience or the lack of knowledge. The Richard Panthers are the top ranked class B team and have won 22 this season. They ended with a 30-10 last season that took them to the state play-offs.

Jafus White led the scoring attack for the Yoemen against the Panthers with 25, followed by Michael White and Ronnie Bennett hitting the bucket for 10 each.

Ronnie Bennett did everything to the backboards except wash them with windex by coming down with 18 rebounds to snatch any hopes away from the Panthers.

Keeping the rebounds going down to the maroon basket was David Kornegay, sweeping down 8 followed by Jafus White's 7.

A flickering light of hope went dim after the Panthers lost a first quarter lead 8-6. It didn't take long for the "Too Tall" Bennett to make those leaps into points.

At half time the Yoemen had buttoned down a 26-14 lead and it was all over except for accepting that 2-foot trophy. Merion Dean kept the Panthers alive by sinking 21 points.

Yoe went to the grace line 10 times and penetrated on 5. Richards sank 4 of 6 from the free throw.

Yoe hit 36% of their offensive shots while the Yoe defense enjoyed the benefits of a slowed-down Richards offense.

Saturday Morning

In the Saturday morning game the Yoemen got a sneak preview of what was in store in District 23AA and Yoe ended with a great big smile. It ended 61-54.

The phrase 'quicker than lightning' was a fitting description of Hearne's Lester Davis. Davis looked like a one-man team pumping in 22 points to keep the game nip and tuck all the way down to the last minute.

Hearne worked their zone defense and shook the Yoemen down to a 13-3 first quarter lead. Yoe shot a slim 5% from the field, sinking only 1 of 19 from the floor.

Yoe pulled within 1 before the half intermission buzzer sounded, 26-25. Ronnie Bennet t swept the boards with 10 rebounds in the first half and with Jafus White's 6 the Yoemen were able to keep within second half striking distance.

Michael White pumped in 16 in the last half and racked up enough points to claim high point status with 21. Ronnie Bennett worked in 18 from his post position followed by Jafus White and Kenneth Scott with 10 each.

M. White's hot hands came as a Yoe blessing along with a 64% average in the final quarter and was enough to cool Hearne's hopes.

Friday evening

Memories of getting beat by Snook last season ran through the minds of returning Yoemen and they were for certain something like that wasn't going to happen again. It didn't: 50-35.

A quick 20 points by Ronnie Bennett; another 15 by Jafus White; and add another dash of 8 points by Michael White and you come out a winner.

There were no tricks needed for this easy assignment and Yoe went through the 4 quarters like first graders through recess.

It looked like the Yoemen had a convoy working with the switching off and underneath passing to Bennett keeping the game out of reach for the host.

Kenneth Scott and Bennett made certain no one was to get a rebound except for themselves.

The Yoe cagers kept out of foul trouble with Snook toeing the free throw line only 3 times. Yoe went to the grace line 22 times and sank 16.

Thursday Morning

Zipping through the season opener like ole pros, the Yoe cagers downed the Hempstead Bobcats in the Snook Tournament Thursday afternoon 61-44.

The transition from the grid-iron to the basketball court had little affect on the Yoe cagers. The Yoemen shot 42% from the floor and blazed the net with a 69% accuracy in the final quarter.

Michael White led the offensive scoring attack with 19 followed by Jafus White and Ronnie Bennett with 12 each. Ronnie Bennett swept the boards with 10 rebounds and kept the Yoe offense working like an experienced ball team.

Also working hard on the boards was Jafus White who cleaned off 9 rebounds. Kenneth Scott pulled down 5 rebounds.

Shooting 36 and 25% in the first two quarters the Yoemen were only able to draw within two of the Bobcats, 20-18, by the end of the first half.

In the first quarter the Yoemen were leading 7-4 but the Bobcats surged in the second stanza and regained the lead mid-way through the quarter and held till the half.

Michael White got the hot hands in the third quarter and Hempstead's lead was short lived. Ronnie Bennett and Jafus White started picking off rebounds like leaves falling in autumn.

Hot shooting by the Yoemen in the fourth quarter ended all Bobcats hopes and the Yoemen out scored Hempstead 14 points in the last 8 minutes.

Yoe Cagers Have Late Start

Beginning a season late could hurt some teams but with the Yoemen it's taken in stride. The Yoemen picked up their season in the same place last year and were able to waltz into the state play-offs.

It could easily be another back-to-back district championship team with the Yoemen returning 6 lettermen off that Regional finalist club. Of that 6 there will be 3 returning starters.

The Yoemen will be suiting up 6 seniors, 1 junior, and 3 sophomores. The starting 5 include 4 seniors and 1 junior.

Coach Ken Poole in his second year as varsity basketball coach said, "Our strong points include our height, quickness, and possibly our shooting."

About the late start Coach Poole said, "The main problem is a late start is the fact that we have a tendency to try to do too much too fast. We must try to be more patient and realize that the teams we are playing are going to be well organized and better prepared in some cases."

"Our workouts have gone well and the good interest and enthusiasm is a great benefit. The entire team has a great deal of enthusiasm toward workouts," Coach Poole lamented.

If the Yoemen have weak points they're going to be hard to find and Coach Poole offered these comments: "I suppose our consistancy might be considered a weak point. Our depth and late start might also be considered a weak point."

In the firs t game of the season the Yoemen defeated Hempstead 61-44. Coach Poole had these comments about the opener: "It went about as I expected. We made some mistakes due to timing but our defense did a good job. We are farther along than we were at this time last season."

The Yoemen depth chart:

Ronnie Bennett, #44, Senior, 6'7", 215.

Jafus White, #20, Senior, 6'3", 190

Michael White, #10, Senior, 6'0", 150

Kenneth Scott, #32, Senior, 6'1", 185

Greg Kelley, #30, Junior, 5'5", 130

Yoe Girls Downed By Rogers

It was another long week for the girls as all teams fell to their opponents. In Tuesday evening's game the Yoe JV girls were overpowered by Rockdale 47-8.

In Thursday night's hardwood action both girls teams were defeated by Rogers. In the varsity game the final score was 59-18 and in the JV game it was 57-8.

In the Thursday night game the JV scoring was led by Tullallah Green who scored 6. Renee Schigut had 2 points.

Janet Angell, Diana Chubb, and Sandra Broadus had a good night guarding and were able to get the ball to the forwards. Janet Angel l led in the rebounding department with 12.

OJT 7th, Elgin 8th Capture OJT Tourney

The 7th annual OJ Thomas Tournament ended with host OJTs seventh grade keeping the first place trophy at home by defeating Manor 31-27. In the eighth grade final Elgin snapped Taylor 46-31.

The OJT eighth grade Yoe Yoes lost their opener to Elgin 36-32. But all wasn't lost, with the eighth grade winning the consolation bracket by defeating Manor 46-29.

In the seventh grade finals Jasper Harden popped the net for 16 to be high scorer followed by Billy Lowe with 13. James Mondrik and Rusty Crummer each had 3. Alan Sapp had one point to wind up the Yoe Yoe scoring.

Coach William's Yoe Yoes faced a 3 point deficit at the end of the first quarter. But the inside work of Lowe and Harden kept the Yoe Yoes in scoring position.

By the half buzzer the Yoe each. The Yoe Yoes started pulling away in the thrid quarter and built up a lead that Manor couldn't touch.

Eighth Grade

In the eighth grade consolation game Terry Lowe and Dean Lewis went to the hoop and pumped in 17 each to leading the scoring attack. Dow Dodd sank 8 and Kenny Stevens scored 4 to wrap up the scoring.

The only time the Yoe Yoes didn't lead was at the opening tip-off but it didn't take long to change that. A quick 13 ponts in the first quarter was enough to out do Manor's 6.

By the end of the first half the Yoe Yoes had gained a 9 point advantage. It was clear sailing for the Yoe Yoes who plunged into a 15 point lead by the end of the third quarter.

Seventh Grade

First it was OJT over Elgin 32-19. The second step was over Rosebud-Lott 24-19. Then for the final over Manor.

In the game against Elgin, Terry Lowe led the scoring with 12 followed by Jasper Harden with 10.

More than one-fourth of your electricity is produced by generating plants which use lignite coal as fuel.

For many years, readily available and inexpensive natural gas was the only fuel used by Texas Power & Light Company at its generating plants. Recently, oil has been used during periods when supplies of natural gas were curtailed.

Several years ago, TP&L and two other North Texas electric companies began a massive program to reduce their dependency on gas and oil by constructing plants which use lignite coal. The first lignite-fueled plant began producing electricity in 1971, another was placed in operation in 1974 and six more lignite units are scheduled for completion by 1980.

Lignite-fueled plants cost much more to build than gas-fueled plants. However, because lignite itself is more economical, it's helping and will help in the future to keep the price of electricity lower than it would be if we depended solely on gas and oil as generating plant fuels.

At Texas Power & Light, we will continue doing what must be done to assure you a dependable supply of electricity in the years ahead.

He was a veteran of World War II and had been a Prisoner of War. He died after a long illness in the V.A. Hospital in Temple. Surviving are two brothers and two sisters. Alton had two cousins who served in W.W. II and became Prisoners of War, George Thomas Smith, of Gause, now deceased and Curtis Smith, the only remaining survivor of the three.

When it was learned Monday night that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Todd were going to spend Wednesday night in Gause after coming from Oakland, Minnesota to attend the funeral of his brother in Waco, friends and relatives hurriedly planned a community get-together and covered dish dinner in the Methodist Church annex. The cooperation on such a short notice was unbelievable the fellowship was the greatest. At least 80 to 90 people participated. Mrs. Edrie Browder reports, and said the food was plentiful and excellent and after so much bereavement with the loss of loved ones and friends during the Thanksgiving season, that all had a feeling that we still have a Friend and were not alone.

Santa Fe Offers Spending Plans

Santa Fe Industries, Inc., plans to spend $233 million for capital improvements during 1976, John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, announced today. This compares with estimated expenditures of $245 million in 1975.

Santa Fe Railway, the principal member of the transportation group, will spend about $125 million next year compared with $175 million in 1975. The decrease is due to reduced equipment needs as a result of the large expenditures for locomotives and cars over the last few years, Reed said.
